SMALL NET CHANGES IN STOCK PRICES

Buying of Canadian Pacific Sufficed to Keep Market Steady.

NUMBER SPECIAL MOVEMENTS

General List Was, However, Inert, and Changes in Either Direction Were Small-Business in Bonds Not Large, Prices Well Sustained

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, May 24.—The only feature of importance in to-day's market was the buying of Canadian Pacific, which has been in evidence for several days past, and which was halted by the president's statement that the general prosperity of the company was all he knew of to account for it. The price reached a record figure to-day at 135%. This movement helped to keep the general market steady. There was a number of special movements in less important stocks, but the list as a whole was inert and closed at small not changes either way. The hopeful views of the peace outlook in South Africa, did not alter this state of affairs, nor did the bank statement. There is a disposition to await definite results in South Africa, and a reeling that there might be a hitch that would again delay the decision. The outsome of the coal strike is also awaited. The report that the control of Louisville and Nashville, and, in consequence, the Chicago, Indianapolis and Louisville absorption project are, in a measure, contingent and dependent on holdings under options was somewhat disturbing in the possibility suggested complications. The weather map was construed as favorable to crop prospects, although showers in the northwest are not desired at this time.

The bank statement shows an encouraging recuperation of reserves, but neither the increase in cash nor the reduction in loans was fully up to the expectations formed by the street. The effect on the market was, therefore, about steady. about steady.

COTTON MARKETS.

NEW YORK, May 24.—The cotton market opened quiet with prices unchanged to 4 points higher, and following the call was steady, despite slow speculative trade. The peace news from London and the increasing strength of the statistical situation proved a full offset to fine crop and weather reports. The room contingent appeared to be slightly short, and anticipating a better market in Liverpool on Monday on the South African news covered quietly wherever opportunity offsred. Port receipts for the day were estimated at 2,000 bales against 4,415 bales same day last year. The "insight" for the present week was estimated at 25,000 bales, against 85,894 bales same week a year ago. The weather forecast indicated generally clear conditions for Sunday in the believe hie the estimates for Monday's receipts were strikingly light as compared with actual receipts for same day last year. Europe and the South were cautions buyers of the summer mouths here after the call; local longs sold for profits. Most of the early session July ranged between 8,92 and Street interests had few orders in the market.

COFFEE MARKET.

NEW YORK, May 24.—COFFEE—The market for coffee futures onneded quiet and unchanged to 5 points lower, after which there were unimportant changes with speculation almost entirely of a local professional character. The market was shally steady and net unchanged to 5 points lower. Total sales were 18.500 bags. Spot Rio, quiet; No. 7 invoice, 5½c.; mild, quiet; Cordova, 8@11½c.

CHICAGO MARKET.

CHICAGO MARKET.

CHICAGO, May 24.—The grain markets were thrown out of gear to-day by the publication of the Government report of last year's cropyields. The report was construed quiet bearishly for a time, and especially since foreign markets were depressed by it. In the end, however, an excellent export demand helped traders to view the revixed figures most dispassionately, and July wheat closed a shade higher; July corn 3/c. up, and July oats a shade advanced. Provisions closed 5@71/5c. higher.

WAS BROADER

Trading Was Not Active, but the Tone Was Firm.

BANK STATEMENT WAS GOOD

The Banks Make a Gain in Cash and Surplus Reserves Are Materially Increased-The Canadian Pacific on a Boom.

The stock market was somewhat broader yesterday and was strong from beginning to end. Trading was limited, however, and the entire transactions amounted to only 232,300 shares. In some of the prominent railroad stocks there was no trading whatever, notably Southern Railway preferred. Chesapeake and Ohio, Colorado and Southern first preferred and Canada Southern. There were very few transactions in Baltimore and Ohio and Norfolk and Western, although in each case there was a rise in price, Baltimore and Ohio selling as high as 107 and Norfolk and Western at 574.

The principal trading was in Canadian Pacific, which rose from 134 to 138%. St. Paul was strong and fairly active, and the same may be said for Union Pacific. Union Pacific convertible bonds were also in demand at higher prices.

Among the Industrials, Colorado Fuel and Iron took the lead and enjoyed a substantial rise. Tennessee Coal and Iron was also better, and the Steel stocks were a little stronger. Locomotive did better than for some time past, the common going in Chemical and no transactions in Can.

CHEMICAL EXPANDING.

high as 93%. There was very little trading in Chemical and no transactions in Can.

CHEMICAL EXPANDING.

The New York papers say that the total tonnage capacity of the plants acquired last week by the Virginia-Carolina Chemical Company aggregates 190,000 tons a year. The new acquisition will give the company a capacity in Alabama of 150,000 tons a year. The new acquisition will give the company a capacity in Alabama of 150,000 tons a year.

It is reported from Philadelphia that President Duke, of the American Tobacco Company, has placed orders for a million dollar mill to be liquidated in the State of South Carolina.

GOOD BANK STATEMENT.

The bank statement was very favorable. There was an increase in cash of 45,552,000 and a decrease in loans of $5,546,000, also a decrease in deposits of $4,410,900, thus increasing the surplus reserves $5,945,925. The gain in cash was not as large as had been anticipated, but the gain in the surplus reserves is substantial and put the banks in very good condition. There was 5 some little profit-taking after the bank statement appeared, but the market held up very well and the close was not far from top.

Several days ago a Wall Street concern insisted that money would be tight and the interest rate high for some months to come. In yesterday's review the same concern says:

"The bank statement was wholly favorable. It showed a gain of nearly $5,000,000 in cash, a decrease of over $8,500,000 in loans, and an increase in surplus reserve of nearly $6,000,000, bringing that item up to our $14,300,000, which is about three times as large as the surplus was two weeks ago. The condition of the banks is now such as to warrant the maintenance of present comparatively low rates of interest, and should the peace negotiations in South Africa be brought to a successful conclusion, the extension of credits in London would further tend to keep money easy in New York."

Sweetest of Sweet Endorsed It

Of all the eccentric checks which have been drawn in the world the palm must unhesitatingly be awarded to one which was presented to the cashier of one of the Tonawanda banks recently This check, which was for $10, was made payable to "the sweetest of the sweet," and was presented to the cashier in the ordinary way. The cashier, naturally startled by the unusual expression in the body of the check, asked in innuocence: "Who is the 'sweetest of the sweet?" "I am" replied the lady. "Kindly indorse it that way," said the cashier. Of all the eccentric checks which har

The Man Who Helped Save the Punjah

Stories of People

In the Public Eye.

The Man Who Helped Save the Punjah William Brendish, lately retired from the Indian telegraph service, is the only living man whose name is connected with one of the most notable incidents of the Indian mutiny. When the Sepoys interrupted telegraphic communicatin between Delhi and Meerut, on the afternoon of Sunday. May 11, the telegraph office in the former city was in charge of a man named Todd, assisted by Brendish and another youth named Pilkington. On Monday Todd was killed while trying to effect repairs in the line, and the care of the office devolved upon Brendish, who remained at his post until 2 dish, who remained at his post until 2 o'clock in the afternoon, when the increasing disorder in the city made it advisable for him to take refuge with other Europeans in the Flagstaff Tower. But before seeking that asylum Brendish, willout any authority from military or civil officers, had sent to Umballa the full civil officers, had sent to Umballa the full details of what was taking place in the old Mogul capital, and it was this information which enabled the authorities throughout the Junjab to disarm the Sepoys before the latter knew what had happened at Meerut and Delhi. To these messages Sir Robert Montgomery and Sir Herbert Edwardes, as well as others equally conversant with the history of the great mutiny, attributes the saving of he Junjab and through that possibly the saving of all India.

The heroic conduct of Brendish and Pilkington in sticking to their post while the murderous Sepoys were slaughtering Europeans in the streets near the telegraph office has appealed to many writers, some of whom, like Mrs. Steele, Edwardes and Holmes, have recorded that the operators were slain at their instruments after having sent a final message of warning. Todd was the only man to perish in the performance of his duty. To Pilkington died in 1867, while Brendlsn, though advanced in years, is still in good health. He is said to have been present at Delhi when Lord Curzon, the viceroy, recently unveiled a monument eracted to commemorate the gallantry of the Delhi telegraph staff. Sir Robert Montgomery was not far wrong when he wrote "The electric telegraph saved India."

Mr. J. B. Richardson in the performance of his duty. "Strenuous" Is another word of the day that one hears oddly applied. A decade ago it would hardly have been deemed a suitable adjective to describe a young woman and yet the remark, "Miss A is a very strenuous person," made about an energetic young woman recently seemed altogether natural, both to the speaker and his auditors.

Mr. J. B. Richardson, the well known merchant, of Providence Forge, was in the city Friday.

Simple Remedies for Insomnia

The simple remedies for sleeplessness should always be tried fatthfully before opiates are resorted to. They will usually be found sufficient, unless the nerve exhaustion is so extreme as to need a physician's care.

One should prepare for bed in a leisurely fashion, then wrap a warm dressing gown around her and drink a cup or two of hot milk, which may be accompanied by a cracker, wafer or some other light edible. The milk should be sipped slowly. Hot water or weak beef ten may be substituted for it if milk does not agree with one.

one.

Before getting into bed it is well to bathe the temples, behind the ears and the back of the neck with eau de cologne or violet water. The old-fashioned lavenor violet water. The old-fashioned laven-der water is thought by many to have peculiarly soothing qualities.

The bed should be protected from draughts by a screen, so that the window may be left open several inches all night. The pillow should be low, or banished utterly and the covering light, though warm.

The pillow should be to the position warm.

When a perfectly comfortable position has been found the eyes should be kept closed and all thought of outside matters dismissed so far as possible. One young woman insists that she can go to sleep much more quickly if she repeats, mentally, a verse of some lullaby.

"Many a time," she declares, "I say over and over, in my mind, Rock-a-bye, baby, in the tree top, and the rest of the little verse, just as I would to a child, and the rbythm steals to my tired brain and all the vibrations are changed, and soon I am sailing away on the bay of sleep."

Another way is to fill the lungs slowly, then empty them slowly. This, repeated for fifteen or twenty inspirations, is almost certain to bring a feeling of drowsiness. When it comes, the breathing exercise should be abandoned, thought abolished and in a short time oblivion will have come.

Still another aid to sleep is to bathe issied and in a short time oblivion will have come.

Still another aid to sleep is to bathe the eyes before retiring with water as hot as can comfortably be borne, to which camphor has been added in the proportion of ten drops to a large cup of water. Hot salt water is also heipful, and both these lotions are good for the eyes, as well as soothing to the nerves.

Some persons find a warm bath to have soporific tendencies, but on others it acts in quite the opposite way, waking them completely. It is wise to try it and note the effect accordingly afterward. If there is a tendency to cold feet; bed shoes should be worn all night as nothing is more likely to prevent sleep than that trouble.—Exchange.

S. C. WEISIGER, President. lieved that it was the favorite ring of Mary Stuart, and that after her judi-cial murder in Fotheringay Castle, it was descended to Charles I., at whose distinct part. Once more did this illfated ring figure at an untimely and illmerited death; for, with almost his last breath upon the scaffold at Whitehall, Charles bequeathed it to Bishop Juxon in trust for his son. In due course of time the ring came into the possession of James II., and was carried away, with him on his flight to the continent. When, however, he was detained by the fishermen at Sheerness, the ring, which had been secreted in the King's underclothing, only escaped robbery by the luckiest of mistakes on the part of the sailor who searched him. Thus the ring was passed on uninjured to James' scendants, till, by the bequest of Car-dinal York, it became the property of the reigning dynasty once more, and was by them replaced among the royal jewels of Scotland, from which it has been separated for many a long year.

Mr Samuel S. Rosendorf leaves to-day A Scotch Ring

The traditional history of the Scotch regalia ring is of the most tragic, not to say melancholy, character. It is be-
